

Temperature-compensated, radiation-hardened crystal oscillators offer high-frequency stability, low-phase noise, and industry-leading small packages for mission essential low-earth orbit spacecraft electronics.